The New Yorks, under adverse circumstances, won a most creditable victory ever the Cleve-lands resterday after eleven innings of hard fighting. Big Rusis showed his value by pitching great ball in the latter part of the game. The victory was of vast importance in that it enabled Joyce's men to take a firm grasp upon fourth place and also increased their percentage to .600, which is 97 points behind the Bestons. 88 behind the Cincinnatis, and 49 behind the Baltimores. The Beaneaters, by the way, suffered an unexpected defeat at the hands of the St. Louis tail-enders, who seem to have taken quite a brace. The Baltimeres, by defeating the Clevelands on Sunday, gained a little on the leaders, while the Cincinnatis, with a double victory over the Brooklyns, secured a good hold on second place. Neither the champions nor the Reds played yesterday, which perhaps was lucky for the Beantown nine. The Brooklyns continued their slide on the toboggan by suc cumbing to the Louisvilles, who tied the Chicagos for eighth place. Philadeiphia walloped Pitteburg and regained sixth notch. Rain prevented the Chicago-Cincinnati game at the Windy City.

CLEVELAND, July 26,-New York was victori breaker for the local fans, for way up ninth inning fortune smiled the Tebeauites, and with good playing and luck on their side victory seemed assured; but there came a slump. The visitors started the ball a-rolling and the entire Cleve land team, famed for its never-give-up-or-die although they fought hard, their play lacked

Every man, whether he was Joycelte or Tebeaulte, was on his mettle, and each one played like flends. The teams seemed perfectly matched, and all thought was centred in team play without regard to individual precords. Every man took all sorts of impossible chances. In nearly every instance the attempt was suc essaful, but occasionally an error was made, but all were of the excusable order. There was scrapping in plenty, but, scenting danger early in the game, realizing that he had the two in the game, realizing that he had the two scrapplest teams in the major league with which to deal, Umpire O'Day adopted summary measures and after that his word was sufficient. Hid Gleason and Joe Meekin got an allopathetic dose of O'Day's cure for kicking in the sound inning.

Warner opened the New York's half with a single to left. Rusle got four bad balls, and Van Hairren sacrificed. Criger caught Tierman's difficult foul and threw to Zimmer to catch Warner. Warner alid eighteen feet to the plate, filling his clothes with yellow Cleveland clay, and reached the plate simultaneously with the ball. O Day declared him out, and the decision precipitated a long wrangle, in which all the players of both teams participated. Gleason was perhaps the most argumentative of all, and, refusing to go back to the bench as promptly as O'Day desired, he was ordered out of the game, Meekin added his word of protest and taiked loud. O'Day ordered him first to sit down, and, on his failure to comply, ordered him off the grounds. A couple of big policemen were called up and enforced the order. A few minutes later Meekin reappeared and viewed the rest of the game quietly from the bench. The New Yorks retired without scoring. Murphy replaced Gleason at second buse.

quietly from the bench. The New Yorks retired without scoring. Murphy replaced Gleason at second base.

Cleveland scored in the first on a double by Burkett, a base on balls to Childs, McKean's saurifice, Wallace's By out, and O'Conner's single, New York tied the score in their half. Van Haltren bunied safe and was forced by Tiernan, Joyce and Davis walked, filling the bases. Glesson pouped, filed to Wallace and Holmes, made a preity single, scoring Tiernan and Joyce. Cleveland scored one run in the third on a single by Burkett, followed by two outs and a long single by Wallace. It was come to bat and go out after this up to the eighth, when Cleveland scored another run on Wallace's triple, followed by a two-bagger.

In the ninth Cleveland scored again, Childs being hit by a pitched ball and scoring on McKean's double. Things looked blue for New York when they came to bat, but there were good things in store for them. Rusie filed to Burkett. Van Haltren was safe on Criger's error. Tiernan tripled, scoring Van Haltren stealing home. Joyce got first on balls. Davis filed to McKean. Wilson batted in place of Murphy. Joyce stole scoond. Wilson singled, Joyce Scoring, Wilson was out in stealing. This made there runs and the game was tied. Then came the tenth with no runs. The Cleveland's drew no prize in the cleventh. The visitors gripped their bats tight and went at the ball. Tiernan banked safe, to be forced a minute later by Joyce. Davis singled, Wilson sent out a beautiful single. Joyce was on third when Holmes came to bat. He sent a hot grounder to McKean. It was foo hot to hold, and the winning run was scored. The score:

CINCINNATI, July 26.—This afternoon Chris Von der Ahs telegraphed to J. T. Grimes, a soldier of the Sixth United Staice Infantry, stationed at Fort Thomas, near this city, asking him on what terms he would sign to pitch with the St. Louis team. Grimes answered, and is expected to be ordered to St. Louis at once. Although a soldier, Grimes has a long juriough and can piay ball the balance of the League season. He has played with the Fort Thomas team for several seasons and has a wide reputation as a twirler.

Harniantra, July 26.—Bert Jones, the clever twirler of this city, who pitched the Lafayette College team to many a victory early in the season, net with a misfortune in the game at Elizabethrown Saturday afternoom. He was occupying the box for Middletown, and while in the act of delivering the ball about the third inning there was a sung, and the left arm of the young pitcher fed limp at his side. An examination disclosed the fact that the arm was broken, and Jones will not pitch any more this season. Subsequently the Middletowns forfeited the game, with the score 2 to 0.

hardest of herses to place, Premier, was a big favorite for the second event, a dash at one mile and a sixteenth, but third was the best he could do. The speedy horse Marsian, whose limit is popularly supposed to be about five furlongs and against whose chances 200 to 1 could be had, went away in front at the start and wasn't approached until the stretch was reached. Then it was Double Quick and the race was an easy one for the Californian, Clawson landing the son of Buckra an easy winner by three lengths. Premier under the whip got to Marsian's shoulder and iost second money in spite of Sims's hard riding. As good as 30 to 1 could be had against Marsian for second position.

The talent appeared undecided about the third race, which was a dash at five furlongs for two-year-olds. They didn't know whether to back Indian Summer, Percy F., Ma Pettle, Lucid, Fixed Star, or Money Spinner, and in consequence good prices could be had against any or all of them at post time. Percy F. was first away at the start, and O'Leary tried to make a runaway race of it. He was in front until the head of the siretch, where Clawson set sail with Midreca, and getting up in time, won a good race by a head. Lucid was a good third. The race that followed was a dash at one mile for three-year-olds. It had eight starters, and Rey del Tierra and Azure were selected to carry the bulk of the money. Burlesque, agood performer last year, but an indifferent racehorse so farthle season, got away in front and was never caught, the favorite, Rey del Tierra, being left at the post. It was 8 to 1 against Burlesque, Manassas, ridden by Powell, the boy who was hurt at Sheepshaad Bay, was second, far in advance of Parmesan, third. The fifth and sixth races were won by Abundant and Savarin; respectively. Abundant should be a good performer, as she is by Galore out of Abaca, but she is cursed with a bad disposition. Savarin is the colt that J. W. Rogers won a couple of stakes with last year and then sold to Joseph Ullman for $8,000 at autton. He is now o

Hot Times at the Oakley Track. CINCINNATI, July 26.-Before the first race at Oakley to-day the judges ordered the horse Little Land scratched. Henry Vorwig, a wealthy brewer and manufacturer, claimed to own the horse, but the judges decided that the animal was not sufficiently identified. As a result of this President Labold of the Oakley Associatio and Vorwig had warm words, and Vorwig was removed from the track. He threatens to have the track closed by the Grand Jury to get even. At about the same time Starter William Letcher, who is also Secretary of the Oakley Association, and R. E. M. Porter of Lexington, who has a string of horses at the track, came to blows, Porter using a field glass as a weapon. They were separated before much damage was done. This encounter was caused by Porter insiniating that his horse, Kriss Kingle, had received the worst of a start on last Saturay, Another incident of the first race was the suspension of Jockey Tommy Burns for a questionable ride on Dressen. The track was very muddy and the time slow, Summaries:

LAWN TENNIS.

English Experts Try Conclusions with Om Cracks at the Longwood Note.

Bosron, July 26,-The principal feature of the Longwood Cricket Club's tennis tournament, which opened here this morning, was the appearance of the three crack English players, Mahoney, Nisbet, and Eaves. Although just landed from the ship, they showed surprising form and easily demonstrated their superiority over the three Americans against whom they were drawn. A possible exception to this, however, might be taken in the case of Nisbet, who, in the person of his opponent, G. W. Lee, former champion of Massachusetts, found a somewhat unexpected snag, for the veteran American succeeded in capturing one set from the English crack and kept Nisbet on the jump all the time. crack and kept Nisbet on the jump all the time. The strength of Lee's game against Nisbet is shown by the closeness of the score.

Mahon: y and Eaves were drawn against Williston and Ewer respectively, and in both matches won hollow victories, neither of their opponents being able to make the Englishmen exert themselves. The hard, swift volleying of the English cracks utterly feazed Williston and Ewer, who were forced to resort to constant lobbing, thereby allowing opportunities which were at once taken advantage of by their opponents.

ors played several practice games between themselves, much to the enjoyment of the attendant spectators.

Of the American cracks who played in the opening events, Larned, George Wrenn, and Whitman, all won their matches, and displayed the best form. In the first round Larned met and defeated G. L. Cabot. At intervals during this match Larned displayed glimpsee of his old-time brilliancy, and is apparently in the best of form. George Wrenn was drawn against Arthur Codman, and had some difficulty in disposing of him.

Champion R. D. Wrenn was out for practice during the day, meeting both Eaves and Mahoney. Wrenn polished off Mahoney with comparative ease. Eaves proved a tougher proposition, and forced the American champion to lower his colors, the Englishman's peculiar service and accurate voileying puzzling Wrenn not a little. The form displayed by the champion, in spite of his lack of practice, was halled with delight by the tennis cracks from all parts of America who are gathered at Longwood, and the chances seem to be in favor of the Longwood Cup remaining on this side of the Atlantic for this year.

To-morrow's events will be the most important, with the exception of the finals, of any in the present tournament. The crucial match of the day will be that between Larned and Mahoney in the afternoon, as the result will decide whether an American or an Englishman will meet Wrenn in the finals, for, with Larned out of the running, it is almost universality conceded that one of the three English cracks will be runner-up against Wrenn.

The matches for the Eastern championship in Plate will be the prizes. The draw for partners to-morrow follows:

Regarding the project to send an English team over. London God of July 16 says:

"The movement for sending a team of British golfers to America, although not lost sight of, has not yet got into good shape. There are, of course, man initial difficulties in the way, but it is hoped that eventually these may be surmounted. It is naturally rather an expensive undertaking, and there is no wealthy Golf Union to back up the two or three enthusiasts who would make the scheme go if they had only sufficient really good men, with leisure on their hands, and a little cash to spare, ready to make the trip. Mr. C. G. Broadwood, Captain of the Scarborough Club, to whom the suggestion was in the first place due, has already received a strong invitation for a team to go and be the guesis of the isoston Club, and similar cordial welconies are off red by the Chicago and New York clubs. It would be a pity if such kind invitations were to go a begging, and not be accepted in the spirit in which they are offered.

Mire, Arthur Dean of the Morris County Club was recently defeated in a mixed foursome at Hudson, is held by Mrs. O. H. Bradley, a stay, and the men's record at 34, by Charles Esselstyn.

Mr. K. Gillette of the N. Y. A. C. made the course in 35. Among the monwho are doing the best work are J. W. Gillette, W. Rice, Arthur Gifford, Dr. O. H. Hradley, J. C. Rogerson, Jr., C. H.
